The FEMA Publications Catalog

In October 2007, FEMA Publications started to make changes to our cataloging, archiving, and publication branding processes. One of the results is the compilation of a current and continually growing FEMA Catalog of published FEMA Products.

The catalog is a work in progress. It's a compilation of all publication products printed since the project began in 2007. As products come to us for printing or reprinting, they're added to the catalog. In essence, this catalog contains the most recent publication products in our inventory.

Ordering FEMA Publications

Most of the products in this catalog are available from the FEMA Distribution Center and can be ordered by calling 800-480-2520, or faxing your request to 240-699-0525. On fax orders include; name and delivery address, phone number, the publication number and title, and the quantity desired. Note: There are control limits on issue quantities for all publications. If the quantity you're ordering exceeds the control limit, that quantity will be subject to approval of the publication's control manager.

FEMA On-Line Resources

The contents of the catalog and many other products can be found on the FEMA Library. Many products in the library can be ordered from the Distribution Center and in most cases downloaded as a PDF. You'll find the FEMA Library at: <http://www.fema.gov/library/index.jsp>

Citizen Corps is the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) grassroots strategy to strengthen collaboration between government and community leaders from all sectors to engage the full community in preparedness, planning, mitigation, response, and recovery. To support this mission, FEMA's Community Preparedness Division has tasked Macro International Inc. (Macro), an Opinion Research Corporation company, to conduct and analyze research and to develop tools for Citizen Corps Councils and others to help achieve greater community resiliency nationwide. The Citizen Preparedness Review (CPR) is published periodically to summarize research findings and to support local efforts to achieve greater community resilience.
